

DUST WAVE

Short film partnerships for local businesses

ALBUQUERQUE AND SANTA FE

We make original short films that bring your business into the story. Your location, event, product, history or people inspire the film; our filmmakers develop it from the first idea through the final export.

What a partnership includes

An original short film

A story written and produced around what makes your business distinctive.

A full local film crew

Writing, producing, directing, cast, cinematography, art, editing, sound, animation and effects, with a team built for the story.

Social edits

Shorter edits for social media that lead viewers back to the complete film.

A responsive page that extends the film's visual world and points viewers toward the action that matters to your business.

The exact scope changes with the story.

A partnership in practice

From Zema With Love

For ZEMA Vinyl Lounge at Hotel Zazz, we made a spy short built around the lounge, its people and its mood. The story continues at zemabar.com, a custom web experience that connects viewers with the real place.

How we work together

You share your business goals and help us get the facts right. We develop the creative concept and lead the filmmaking, with room to bring a distinct point of view. Your partnership employs local artists and supports Dust Wave's film collective.

Budget guidance

Our production budget sweet spot is $10,000–$14,999 for the film, social edits and landing page. Projects under $5,000 are not typically a good fit.

Since 2020, Dust Wave filmmakers have made award-winning work across comedy, horror, science fiction, animation and more.

Tell us your story

Share what makes your business special, what you want people to feel, your goals and working budget. We read every inquiry and follow up when a project sounds like a good fit.
